Matting: Rent or Buy?

Go Green, $ave Green

If You've Hit Information Overload, We Feel Your Pain.

Our inboxes are bursting with so much information it's hard to find what's relevant. That's why we've waded through the clutter to find the latest trends, innovations and insights on how to improve business performance - so you don't have to! We combed a mountain of posts, blogs and e-publications for thought-provoking perspectives on enhancing customer experience, improving efficiency, improving sustainability and lowering costs. We looked for fresh insights and ideas from industry leaders, and we put our own in-house category gurus to the test.

We've filtered out the noise and put what's left into a quick-read format we call the Bunzl Business Insider. We know you don't want to hear from us too often, so we're only going to send it to you twice a year. And, if you tell us what you'd like to know more about, we'll be sure to include it, just for you.

Matting: Should You Rent or Buy?

Did you know that 90% of the dirt that is tracked into your facility enters through the front door? A good matting system can stop up to 80% of the dirt tracked into a building and is the first step to maintaining floor appearance. Matting protects floors from dirt, debris and moisture. Since it reduces the frequency of floor stripping, finishing and cleaning it significantly reduces labour costs. But how do you know whether to rent or purchase matting for your business?
